“ Carol was Carolyn Owens when we grew up together. I am Carolyn's older cousin. Mary Barbre Reinders, on Aunt Florence's side. She, Shirley, Pat and I spent our younger years growing up next door to each other. I never had brothers or sisters, so they were always like sisters to me. Our grandmother and myself used to travel back and forth between our home in New Madrid, MO to Aunt Florence's and Uncle Thurmond's in St Louis, where they had moved to by then. Carolyn and I were the oldest, so we were closer. As often is the case, when we started marrying and leaving home, the girls and I weren't as close, as we once were. We still managed to get together at Aunt Florence's occasionally. I got to meet and know their older children. It makes me sad that I haven't been able to know them as well as I should have. So in closing, Rodney, Diane
