“ I guess one of my fondest memories of Uncle Bun was when he and my Dad would work on cars when you all lived on Becker. Us kids would climb in the trees while they did their thing under the hood of the Nash Rambler. I love you Uncle and you will never be forgotten!

“ When I first saw that Uncle Bun passed I was, as most I'm sure, very sad. As I sat there dwelling on him the song 'I Can Only Imagine' popped into my head and my spirit leapt with joy for Uncle Bun, I can still only imagine, he's there, surrounded by Glory and so very, very happy. Though I'm still sad in the sense that I will miss him very much, I'm more envious than sad now I think, he sees what I can only imagine. I love you Uncle Bun.

“ When I Go Away
When I go away; Will you remember me,
The one who brought forth many wonderful colors of life?

There within you: the question lies unanswered: to open a book of life. To span the possibilities, of finding.

I'm not really away; but live within the walls of your mind, which has many rooms to stay.

I will be there to give you smiles and joy of memories I left you. Of Good Thoughts.

I will never go away; As Long As You Remember....
